III. ADDED AGENDA ITEMS

Many local youths attended meeting to get information on the parks projection. These particular children were hoping for a concrete type park, because they were under the impression that the town was contributing the funding. Once they realized that all efforts are being raised for the park strictly through volunteer fundraising they understood that asphalt was the more economical way to proceed.

Most of the children offered to participate in the future fundraising events with the committee and some offered to volunteer for community service through the school system.
